

Collaborative Working Towards Greater Community Care

The WeAre1 Youth Group

The one certain thing that will happen in society is that at some point those who are now our younger generation will develop and grow into tomorrow's adult workforce.

We believe that with the correct role models and individuals who can show our younger generation better ways of applying themselves and in the end becoming role models themselves, we will be able to secure a future society that can carry forward all of the morals and values that underpin our society and be used for future generations to do the same.

So many skills go unnoticed because of the stigma that is attached to the younger generation as a whole. We all have to remember the fact that we were all young once, and though times change and new technology has evolved at a very rapid pace, every one of us has the ability to engage our younger people into positive and meaningful activities that encourage self belief and self esteem.

Everyone has the choice to learn new skills and new ways of progressing, but we need to be able to share the skills we have developed and pass them on to our younger people so that they can get a sense of purpose as to how the whole community can benefit from their invaluable input.

We are going to run a Youth Service in the very near future that will help the younger generation to be proactive in their own development and to encourage interaction between those who may be quite frail, disabled, or have learning difficulties etc.

Every member of society can make a difference to so many people who are around them but they never seem to get the chance to communicate with each other.

We will also put in place activities that will be fun and enjoyable for every member so that they have the chance to socialise and just let their hair down in order to be themselves.
